SECRETARY'S DEPARTMENT GETS SCORING

Remington Man Admits Direct Bribe to Guatemalan Chief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Evidence describing the American state department as "a cold eye to graft" in munitions purchases was spread before the Senate committee today.

Coupled with this was direct testimony by Elmer E. Jones, Remington Arms company salesman, that he paid graft to Gen. J. P. Padilla, Guatemalan minister of war in 1929, to get munitions import permits.

An office memo from Frank Monaghan, Remington export manager, to the president of the firm told him that he felt this was the only way to get the state department in 1929 to stop purchase of munitions by the Guatemalan public from Germany on grounds that $50 to $60 per rifle for Dominican officials was included. The memo added:

"They (the state department) are willing to close their eyes to small graft in Latin-American countries, but they are not willing to go too far, especially as the Guatemalan republic is the last of unsettled American states."

The American minister protested against the deal and Sen. Charles McNary cancelled the German order shortly afterward, McNary said.

Senator Clark, Democrat of Missouri, after giving the witness.

"It seems the state department doesn't really favor and condemn graft largely."

Vancouver Elects A Mayor

—An Editorial—

The city of Vancouver elected a new mayor on Wednesday. Never mind for the moment who he is, or why he was elected. The election itself is deserving of attention, as an election.

The Mayor-elect had arrayed against him:—

Conservatives who felt it their duty to try to defeat a vigorous and effective critic of the Roman Catholicism; The C.C.F. organization because of his challenge that socialism could not be "sold" to Canadians;

A political organization built up during many years by Mayor I. D. Taylor, based on personal popularity and an administrative record that had been repeatedly approved at the polls;

The bankers and the sound money crowd to a man, along with all upon whom they could bring their influence to bear.

He was elected against this formidable alliance by a majority of 25,417, out of a total vote of 43,519. He polled nearly four votes for one cast for his veteran opponent. His plurality was 10,000 larger than the greatest vote ever before polled for a mayoral candidate in that city; in the largest vote ever polled in the city's history.

A remarkable election, under any circumstances, and without regard to who won or what were the issues involved. It wasn't an election within the usual meaning of that term. It was an electoral upheaval, which simply buried the opposing candidate and his allies. The result was more than decisive; it was obliterating.

A National Event

Ordinarily it is only a matter of casual interest to people in Edmonton, and in other parts of Canada, who happens to be elected as mayor of Vancouver; as residents at the coast commonly take only a passing interest in the outcome of municipal elections in Edmonton.

In this instance the case stands different. This was no ordinary city election. The Mayor-elect is Mr. G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.L.A., and he was elected preaching on the municipal hustings the monetary reform doctrine he preached in the British Columbia general elections, with great success, in Alberta recently and with notable effect in Ontario and Saskatchewan.

On that point there is no possible ground for doubt. The campaign was not fought in the main on the administrative record of Mayor Taylor. Had that been the case Taylor might have been returned as so often before. Certainly.

U.F.A. PARLEY PONDERS OVER KNOTTY POINTS

By the terms of his will, Charles Vance Miller left $500,000 and any accumulation from it to the Toronto women who give birth to the largest number of children within the 10 years following his death.

SCORE REACHES 10
Wednesday, Mrs. Matthew Kenyon, 31 years old, gave birth to her eleventh child—a little girl—since 1925.

Mrs. Kenyon rests in the conviction that she is the leader so far in this maternity marathon, but distinctly at cross-purposes with her Mrs. Grace Hagins, court interpreter, who insists she holds first place because Mrs. Kenyon registered her babies two late to count, and because "pre-mature, still-born babies" are not legal tender.

RUNNER-UP HAS RIGHT
Mrs. Hagins has had eight children since 1926, and her ninth is expected from the already announced and impending start this week. She is convinced she holds first place.

There is no consolation prize and no money for second place in this expensive and citizen here are already beginning to shake their heads in sympathy for the parents who place and show.

Charles Vance Miller, the sportsman-lawyer, will have named the aspect of an epic feat that will become more and more garish as the next twenty-eight months slide by, attached no strings to his bequest.

FROM RANCH TO SCREEN SIREN — Myrna Williams (studio changed her name to Loy) was born 30 years ago on a Montana ranch. Her parents moved to Los Angeles when she was of high school age. There she attended a girls' school, later art school. Took up sculpturing, studied dancing, appearing as a dancer in prologues on the stage of the Chinese Theatre. Rudolph Valentino saw, got her a part in "What Price Beauty" in 1925. From then on she appeared as a seductive siren. Above: As a South Sea Island girl in 1926

LATEST — The most modern version of Cleo was portrayed by Claudette Colbert, just this year

TO-DAY AND YESTERDAY—Left, above, Miss Loy as a gipsy girl, the type of role she played for eight years. At the right, the Myrna Loy of to-day—stardom at last

ONCE SCREEN FAVORITE—Cleopatra herself could not have been nearly so alluring as was Evelyn Brent, favorite of a few years ago, when she had that role

FIRST VAMP — Few of the movie followers will fail to remember Theda Bara, who played Cleopatra in 1917

ANOTHER CLEOPATRA — There have been Cleopatras and Cleopatras since the first one. Helen Hayes (below) played the part on Broadway in 1925

WHEN MYRNA STUDIED DANCING—Before she entered the movies in 1925, Myrna studied dancing. She is five feet, six inches tall, weighs 125 pounds. She has always lived in the West and (unless she made a trip recently) has never been east of the Mississippi

THE SCREEN'S FIRST CLEOPATRA was Mary Fuller, who later became one of the stars of the serial thrillers which held forth so long. She was cast as the famed siren in 1908

Way

FROM MUSICAL COMEDY TO FILM STARDOM—Because of musical comedy training Marlene Dietrich was cast in "The Blue Angel" with Emil Jennings. She was seen on the stage by Josef von Sternberg, who brought her to America. Marlene had started out to be a violinist, but before she had studied long she received an injury to her left arm which made bowing difficult. She then tried the stage, and played extra roles in German movies. Above: On the stage in Germany

HEADS LIST IN TALKIES—Talking pictures ruined many stars, but it made Will Rogers. He crashed the movies in 1919, made several pictures, but failed to become a factor at the box office. It wasn't until the talkies arrived that he began to click in pictures. To-day he is a No. 1 box office star. He is seen above (left) in one of his early pictures, "The Headless Horseman"

Clara
Bow

ON HER WAY—Marlene Dietrich, above, as she appeared in the German movie, "Three Loves," in 1929. Although on her way, she was far from famous then

THE START—John Gilbert at the start of his film career in 1917. With him is Enid Bennett, who appeared in her last picture in 1931

Bill Stark Gets Overtime Marker For 3-2 Triumph

E.A.C. MEETS SOUTH SIDERS HERE SUNDAY

Manager Fra Stuart, remembering that his team has only won this city and provincial championships on overtime, as well as entering the Western Canada final for the Allan Cup, in addition to winning the St. Moritz and European championships, will along with Coach Lloyd McIntyre, lead the strongest possible team into action. He wants to maintain the prestige of their colors and show that the success of the club can turn back the challenge of flaming youth.

After suffering a 3-1 defeat last Sunday it will be a consequence-seeking Edmonton Athletic Club squad that will drop over the boards against the South Siders in the championship game at the arena Sunday afternoon.

In their three games to date, E.A.C. has dropped only the one game, having played to a pair of 2-2 draws with Selkirk-Canadians and, for that defeat at the hands of South Siders, Coach Dan Carrigan's boys will be out to upset South Siders in their championship race.

Premising one of the closest races in junior hockey for some time, Sunday's game should prove to be a stiff battle as all three teams are evenly matched.

On the other hand, Coach Dan Carrigan will seek to show that his youngsters have nothing to fear from the veterans. Backed by the brilliant goaltending of "Big Red" Lavette, and the championship of the club, the team of Watson and Bill Gault, the Carrigan-coached crew will be out there winning at all times.

Here is a chance to have a bang-up good evening of hockey entertainment and do a good turn at the same time.

It is a tribute to their sportsmanship that the players are so willing to co-operate in an affair of this kind—rarely has an amateur team so anxious to do as a matter of fact—and it is hoped that the game will win in the same way and turn out in record numbers to aid the cause for which the game is being staged.

Toronto's Leafs Beat Maroons To Increase Lead

Conquer Montreal By 4-2 Score In Hectic Overtime Battle — Winners Come From Behind

MONTREAL, Dec. 14.—Toronto Maple Leafs conquered Montreal Maroons 4-2 in overtime last night before an excited crowd of 11,000 here and stretched their margin over Maroons to eight points in the Canadian series standing of the National Hockey League.

The Leafs came from behind in the third period to tie the score at 2-2 and then Charlie Conacher won the game for them in the overtime with a nice goal. Buzz Boll buzzed home another goal just to make sure and it was 4-2.

Happy Day slapped in a first period goal on a pass from Killeen to give Toronto an early lead. Allan Shields tied it up for Maroons in the second on a shot from Ray Robinson, and then Dave Trotter brought in a goal in the third to assist from Robinson to give Montreal a lead of 3-2.

But Maroons' lead was short-lived. Jackson dashed Maroons' hopes with another Leafs goal. Joe Primeau and Chuck Connors contributed assists.

The game was forced into overtime by Rubber Jackson's counter.

"Well," said Lott, "I've been here and you've been writing that, and while I guess I've said it, I'll admit now that I did."

CLEVELAND WINS AGAINST LONDON

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Cleveland Lions last night showed promise of leaving some doubt in the minds of the London Telegrams as to an International League fixture. It was the first defeat the Lions suffered on home ice this year.

Mill Haliday, forward, scored two of Cleveland's goals, while Sparky Vail and Ronald Reiser accounted for the others. Toots Hooten and Ernie Kenny, former Edmontonians, were London's goal getters.

Great Slugger To Assist McKechnie In Bossing Braves

Ruppert Wishes Babe Get Chance of Managing Baseball Club

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The way of realizing of Babe Ruth's dream of managing a major league ball club was accelerated by Boston Braves as the "coldest, quietest major league meetings in many years" closed.

The Braves, busily seeking ways and means of overcoming the fading popularity of the rival American league club, the Red Sox, turned at straight to the greatest attraction of the opposition league as Charles Adams, Braves stockholder, made the first overtures to Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees.

Briefly, the Braves idea is to take Ruth as an assistant to their present manager, Bill McKechnie, having him hit and play now and then in the city where he started his fabulous major league career with the Red Sox in 1914. Ruppert told Adams the Braves could have Ruth and play him in pinch roles while learning the managing business, that the rest to them would be nothing, just so the Babe got his chance as manager as a fitting reward for 20 years of major league play and slugging stardom. The Braves' desire will be considered.

The Yankees, understood, but have received no official word, that Connie Mack, Ruth's manager on a far east tour, would like him as an assistant next year, and the idea of asking the Babe as Joe Cronin's assistant.

DOG RACING OUT

The Braves' overtures for Ruth followed the quiet snuffing out of Judge Emil Fuch's effort to turn the Braves Park over to dog racing during the coming summer season. The league bawled forth for the dog track, but the league manager, completed the second trade of the season, a deal whereby Joe Bowman, right hand pitcher and about $7,500 moved to Philadelphia for George Davis, centre-fielder who Terry traded to St. Louis for George Wainwright last year and has regretted doing so ever since. The only deal of the first two days was the transfer of Johnny Salmons, right hand pitcher, to Pittsburgh for
